

My private content has leaked

Private photos or videos, or your paid content, are posted without your consent. In this order:

THE 5 STEPS

1Keep the evidence

The address of each page, a dated screenshot, and proof that the content is yours.

2Block the spread

With StopNCII, your intimate images are blocked on several major platforms, from your phone.

3Report each page

To the site hosting it, as "intimate content without consent", or as copyright for your paid content.

4Get it off Google

Google has a form to remove intimate images posted without your consent from its results.

5Follow up and keep watching

No answer? Follow up. Leaks often come back on other sites: search every week.

DO NOT

- ✗ Do not reshare the content, even to warn people.
- ✗ Never pay someone who is blackmailing you.
- ✗ Do not delete your messages with the person before saving them.
